Several Savage Assaults.

Several Savage Assaults.

Another murderous assault occurred last night which may add another murder to the list. A colored man named Wm. T. Williams rushed into Draney's stables and accused another colored man named Detrick Wilson with alienating the affections of his wife from him, and, raising a club, felled Wilson to the ground, fracturing his skull. In the Police Court to-day the prisoner (Williams) was committed without ball on account of the dangerous character of Wilson's wounds.

George Kelpy, a blacksmith, in the employ of the Independent Ice Company, was fined $50 or sixty days by Judge Snell today for assaulting Ed. Tuxton. The assault consisted in a severe blow on the head with a riyeting banmer.

Richard Lawson, a colored wife-heater, was assessed $20 for assaulting his wife Amanda. The latter had a pair of discol-ored eyes, and was bally used up generally, and told the Court a mountal tale of the ill-treatment she receives at the hands of her husband.

George Thompson testified before the Po-lice Court to-day that Christian Krause of West Washington met him on the street last night and kneeked him down and kicked him in a brutal manner. A fluc of $10 or thirty days was imposed.

An Admirable Wood Preservative. The process of the Carolina Oil & Creosote Company of Wilmington, N. C., for preserving wood against decay has been the oughly tested, and will unquestionably prove of great economic value in all its varied applications. These include the building of wharves, piers, bridges and bath-houses. The process is also successfully applied to the foundation stills of houses, wooden pavements, fence and telegraph posts, railroad ties and trestles, and in fact all structures of wood that are peculiarly liable to destruction by exposure to water or atmospheric dampness. Many of the best architects and engineers of the country unbesitatingly recommend the Wood Creesoite Oil as fully answering all that is claimed for it. WASHINGTON CRITIC | OFR PULPIT GALLERY

Portrait and Sketch of the Pastor of All Souls' Church,

REV. RUSH RHEES SHIPPEN

One of the Historic Churches of the National Capital.

The paster of All-Souls Church, Rev Rush Rhees Shippen, was born in 1828, at Meadville, Pa., his father being presiding judge over the courts in the orthwestern part of the State until his death in 1889. Mr. Shippen was educated in Meadville, at Allegheny College, a Methodist Institution, where among his teachers were the noted Bishops Simpson and Kingsley, For nine months he taught public school, and for a year was private teacher in the family of Mark R. Cockerill, wealthy planter residing in the suburb of Nashville, Tenn. His theological studies were pursued at the Meadville school, under Dr. Rufus P. Stebblas, who has since preached for a winter in Washington, and who last summer died in Cambridgeport, Mass.

In November, 1849, at the age of twentyone, Mr. Shippen took charge of the First Unitarian Church in Chicago. During his eight years' ministry, favored by the rapid growth of the city, the church edifice was twice enlarged, and in 1857 the house and ils congregation were left nearly three times as large as be found them. As successor of Rev. Edward Everett Hale, he then for thirten years was pastor of the Church of the Unity at Worcester, Mass., where again his growing congregation enlarged their edifice. In the summer of 1800 he enjoyed a seven months' tour through Europe, and in 1871 settled in Boston as sceretary of the American Unitarian Association. During his ten years' service in this missionary body he took active part in collecting funds for the rebuilding of the Robert Collyer Church in Chicago, burned in the great fire, in saving from sale for debt the church in New York, over which Mr. Collyer has since been settled, and in building the present Church of All Sozis in this city, in whose pastorate he was installed in April, 1881, and where he still continues an earnest, devoted and well-beloved pastor.

The Church of All Souis Unitarian dates from 1820. In the National Intelligenere of dune 5 of that year appears the first call for a meeting of the friends of Unitarian worship to be held in the long room over the public baths on C street, between Foura-andeladi and Sixth. Heligious services were there conducted by Rev. Robert Little, then recently from England, until on June 9, 1823, the new church on the corner of Sixth and E streets—built with add from friends in Baltimore, Piniladelphia and the East—was dedicated. Rev. Mr. Little continued as pastor until his sudden death in Harrisburg, Pa. in August, 1827. On this church was placed the church bell first brought to the city, cast in Boston, at the foundry of the famous Paul Revere, and used for public occasions until the time of the war. Now in the tower of the now church, Fourteenth and L streets, in good time and tune, it conthinues to appeal was made to the denomination at its National Conference at Saratoga in 1876 for aid in creeting a new and more commodious structure in a more eligible location. The result was a denominational contribution of $55,000, which was added to the resources at hand, and forever secured to the denomination by a perpetual mortgage on the property bearing no interest. By contributions in the city and by the sale of the old church property the sum of $30,000 was added. And at a cost of about $35,000 for lot, house, organ, fence and furnishing the present church edifice, on the corner of Fourteenth and L streets, was eracted in the summer of 1877 by the well-known builder. Colonel R. I. Fleming, with R. G. Russell of New Haven as architect, and H. A. Willard, G. B. Clark and I. Hanscom, building committee. The church is without debt. It was dedicated in January, 1878, Rev. br. H. W. Bellows of New York preaching the sermon. Rev. Clay MacCauley, then pastor, reinained till the summer of 1880, and in April, 1881, was succeeded by Rev. Rush R. Shippen, the present pastor. The church has a flourishing mission school, in charge of the ladies of the parish, which meets in the chapel on Saturday mornings; also a large and prosperous Sunday school, with excellent library, under the superintendency of S. R. Bond, esq., meeting every Sunday morning in the chapte before service. A parish union, or panizing the social activities of the church-bus formed a valuable library for general use, mid-holds occasional meetings on Tuesday evenings for social fellowship and musical and library entertainment to be alternated with meetings for religious study and culture. The business organization of the church is committed to nine trustees, of whom three are elected each year, of whom Bernard R. Green, esq., is chairman.

YESTERDAY'S TRAGEDY.

How Summerfield Killed His Wife and Gottlieb Eisenbraun. The terrible double tragedy of yesterday afternoon, in which old Louis Summerfield mundered his wife, Christina, and his sonin-law, Gottlieb Eisenbraun, in the latter's aloon, No. 1218 Maryland avenue northeast, as described in yesterday's Cutric, has salcon, No. 1218 Maryland avenue northcast, as described in yesterday's Chitric, has been the theme of conversation ever since.

The wife of the murderer, who has had to support him for a long time on a little truck garden, with what little assistance she could get from him, was compelled recently to leave him on account of his terrible brutality. She went to live with her daughter and sout-in-law, Eisenbrann. Since then the old man has sold everything he could find about the place for rum.

Yesterday afternoon he went into Eisenbraun's and called for a drink, which was given blin. He then began raving about his family troubles and asked to see his swife, charging her with robbing him of $250.
The wife refused to see him and he began to quarrel with Eisenbraun, who has only one arm. He drew a built-log pistol from his pocket and pressing it against the breast of his sen-in-law, pulled the trigger. The victim fell dead without a murmur. The flash from the weapon seorched the clothes of the dead man, so close was it to his breast when he was shot. The murderer then turned upon his wife, who had entered, and also her in the back as she turned to run.
She fell dead in her trasks.

The dead body of Eisenbraun lay on the bar-room floor with his head to the bar, and Mrs. Summerfield lay a corpse in the adjoining room. Summerfield quietly put the smoking pistol into his pocket and walked out, when he was arrested, as described in The Catric.

The function of the victims will take place to-morrow afternoon from corner of Twelfth street and Maryland avenue northeast at 2 o'clock, Mr. Eisenbraun was amember of the Washington Butchers' Benevolent Association and Oriental Lodge, No. 19, 1, 0, 0, 0, 1, both of which organizations will attend his funcal in a body.

THE INQUESTA

Corener Patterson and a jury composed of louis K. Brown, Perry Talbert, Thomas Benson, Charles Krauskoff, George Stigmain and Richard Barrett convened at the house, where the tradgey occurred this morning at 11 o'clock.

The following witnesses were called: Ed. McCarty, Mrs. Bertha Eisenbraun, Wm. Myers, James E. Childs, Officer Slack, Lieutenant Kelly and Dr. Hartigan. Their testimony corroborated the published aecount.

unt. Mrs. Bertha Eisenbraun, wife of the Mrs. Bertha Elsenbraun, wife of the murdered man, a feall German woman about 30 years of age, had to be assisted into the room where the inquest was being held. Her story did not differ from the account published, except that Summerfield, after shooting her husband, ran into the kitchen where he found his wife and there shot her. The jury rendered a verdiet to the effect that the dead man and woman "came to their deaths from pistol shot wounds inflicted with a pistol in the hands of Louis Somerfeld."
